Summer at St. James'

I have mentioned before that Betsy and I try to tell each other that summer is the quiet time around the office, but that is not really accurate. True, the day school is out, and we don't have the children around, but that is not the only thing going on. St. James' is very much open and things are happening.

The biggest event of the summer still revolves around the day school with the annual rummage sale. This year's sale will be in July. Once again, we will have a special preview party for the parish on the Sunday of the sale with the public preview party on Wednesday. More details about that as we get closer.

Summer also means vacations and trips and such for many folks. The joke is that Episcopalians are the only ones God trusts to let them have summers off. I would still encourage you to join us for services on Sundays. We will continue both services all summer, 8:30 and 10:30. Wednesday morning Bible study will continue during the summer at 10:30, although the Wednesday evening one is on hiatus. Adult Sunday school will continue between the services.

Summers may be a little quieter but no less active. It may be tempting to sleep in on Sundays, but there is no replacing the joy and sense of community that comes from worshipping God together in church.

Peace,

Fr. Brandt+
